Use the link above to inspire/help you with your short story today.

Imagine you are living during WW2 like the children in Letters from the Lighthouse and having to eat the same awful food every night as described by Cliff and Olive in the first chapter of the story.

Write a short story about sitting at the table and being served the usual tasteless food, but then imagining it was an utter feast.

What are you eating now as you imagine the feast?

What does it taste like?

How does it smell?

How are you feeling eating it?

How do you feel after you have eaten it?
